BAKER BROS. PRICE LIST

THIS LIST CANCELS ALL PREVIOUS LISTS

This is the third season that we are coming before our customers with only a price-list. The cost of issuing a catalogue now is so high as to be almost prohibitive, and our experience the last two seasons with a price-list was so satisfactory, that we do not hesitate to do the same thing this season. Trees are scarce and prices high, but prices on most things have not advanced as much as the cost of production. When it is remembered that nearly the whole cost of growing and handling trees is for labor and that labor in the last three years has advanced two to three hundred per cent it is clearly apparent that an advance of one hundred per cent in trees would not be excessive. And yet, the average advance in prices will not be that much. We have a good stock of fine trees and advise our customers to place their orders early, while they can get what they want. If they wait too long they may have to take poorer stock, or perhaps not get any at all. Many people were unable to find what they wanted last season. This season there is less stock than last and the demand is greater. We deliver our trees in good condition to the transportation companies but do not give any guarantee as to their safe delivery or as to their growing. All prices f. o. b., Fort Worth, Texas.

RELIABILITY: The nurseryman and florist has an excellent opportunity to deceive his customers. The customer can rarely ever tell if he is getting trees true to name or in a good growing condition. Again the customer who orders cut flowers as a present or offering, seldom has opportunity to know if full value has been sent or fresh flowers delivered. This condition has often tempted unscrupulous nurserymen and florists to take advantage of their customers. To protect the buying public against such frauds, two safeguards have been employed.

First: The leading nurserymen of America have organized the "American Association of Nurserymen" and will not admit to its membership any one who is not reliable and trustworthy in his dealings.

Second: The florists of the country have organized the "Florist Telegraph Delivery Association," and while its purpose is primarily to deliver fresh flowers by telegraph any where in America or Europe, it also carries with its membership the prerequisite of fair and honorable dealings.

The buying public is urged to patronize members of these associations, as the surest way of eliminating unscrupulous dealers. Needless to say we are members of both organizations.
